to our teacher, principal, and friend,

Mr. Joseph J. Josches.

His unselfish efforts in our behalf, his interest, his sound instruction, his patient understanding, and his pleasant, quiet, and dignified manner have made the days that we spent here both happy and profitable. To have had him as a teacher, a principal, and a friend has been our pleasure and good fortune.

To you, Mr. Josches, we dedicate with pride and affection, this sixty-third edition of the Oak, Lily, and Ivy.

PRINCIPAL TOSCHES, with Supt. Davoren and Miss Rose, on the day of his appointment.

Mr. Joseph J. Tosches

Senior Girls' Glee Club.

Miss Swift tells Mr. Tosches, Mr. Moran, Al, and Janice about the class ode.

Now as you retire, may the WINTER of your life favor you with the health and happiness of its SPRING.

To you, Miss Swift, our friend, whom we remember with respect, admiration and affection we say, "Many thanks" for all that you have done for the many thousands of children with whom you have come in contact throughout the forty-seven years that you served so well as teacher and supervisor of music in the public schools of Milford. Your enviable record, faithfulness, kindness, and sound instruction will of themselves serve as a lasting memorial to you.

"Here's our foreword, Folks."

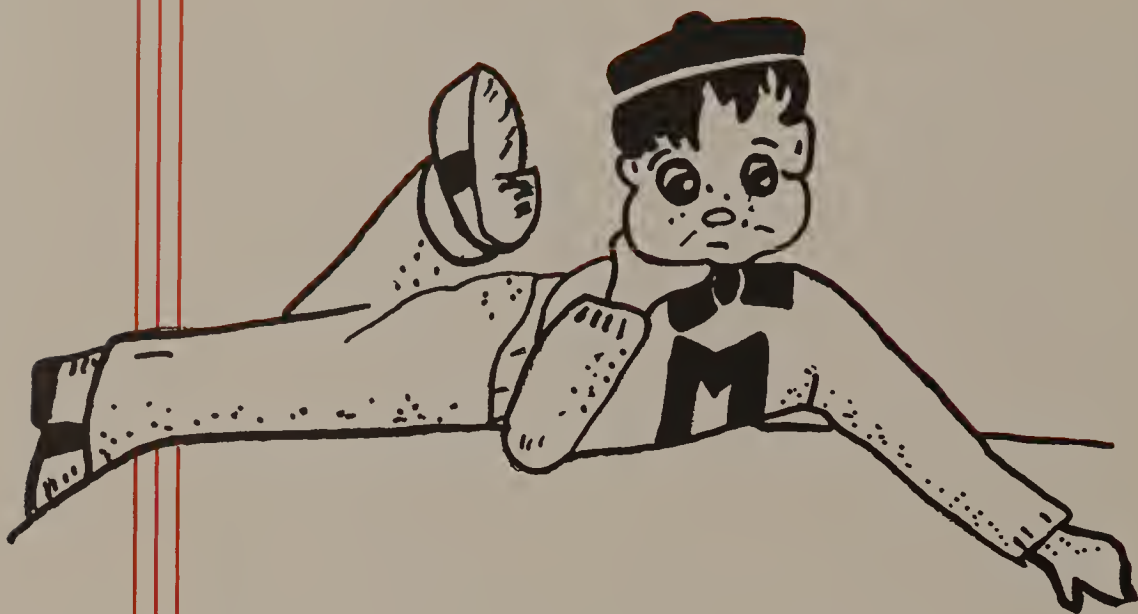

"Childhood days, wildwood days, days of long ago..."

These words will linger in our memory for many years to come. They will recall the many happy hours we have enjoyed within the walls of the Milford High School, the many profitable lessons we have learned, and the many lasting friendships that we made there.

And so, like players presenting their epilogue, we offer this book, the sixty-third edition of the OAK, LILY, and IVY, as a record of the golden-rule days, rich in memories of the Fall, Winter and Spring, those seasons of the year when our school was in session.

To our faculty we are indebted for their wise counsel and wisdom, for administering to all of our needs, and for the excellent preparation we received from them so that we might face life's battle unafraid in any season of the year.

"Here's Book 1, Folks."

"Of seasons of the year, the Autumn is the most melancholy."

"If Winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

"In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

Frank Corliss Berry

1891 - 1946

May the knowledge of the great good he accomplished comfort and assuage the grief of those who loved him best and whose loss is forever great.

In Memoriam

On the evening of December 20, 1946, the members of the Dante Club had assembled at the Lynch Auditorium to enjoy the club's annual Christmas Party when the shocking news of the death of Superintendent of Schools Frank C. Berry reached them.

With the announcement of the passing of Mr. Berry, the joyous and cheerful spirit of the holiday season that permeated the group was immediately changed to one of sorrow and sadness. Heads were bowed in solemn prayer for the man these students knew as their friend and benefactor.

Frank C. Berry was born on February 26, 1891, at Worcester, Massachusetts. He was educated in the Worcester public schools, at Holy Cross College and later at Clark and Harvard Universities. He joined the faculty of Milford High School in 1914 and except for the time he served his country in the United States Navy during World War I, he continued his association with the Milford Public School system until his death. Throughout his career he served as teacher, coach, submaster, High School principal and finally as Superintendent of Schools.

His work as a coach brought him prominently before the people of our community. In this sphere of activity he met with unusual success, particularly in the organization and management of American Legion baseball teams. His deeply sympathetic interest and his relentless efforts on behalf of the youngsters who came within his influence soon proved him to be an outstanding champion of the youth of our community.

As principal of the Milford High School, he was a conscientious and successful administrator. Many of the existing activities, both scholastic and extra-curricular, originated with Frank C. Berry and were firmly established under his sound and expert guidance. This man had many admirable qualities, but perhaps the most outstanding was his deep love and devotion for his own beautiful family. Constantly faithful to all duties, obligations and responsibilities, he set a perfect pattern for all to follow in his relation to his wife, his daughter, and his two sons.

Frank C. Berry was a loyal and capable teacher whether in the classroom or elsewhere. Those students who were fortunate enough to be associated with him profited not only for the moment, but for the future as well, since they learned much that is essential to good Christian living. His interests never wavered. Throughout the passage of years and changes in status, he remained the constant and true friend of the youth of our community. Although God in His infinite wisdom has now seen fit to remove him from our midst, the ideals which he instilled into the hearts and minds of our young people burn brightly and steadily as a living testimonial and in ardent tribute to a man who made of education his whole life.

THE MILFORD SCHOOL COMMITTEE and Mr. Davoren, newly-elected superintendent of schools, sit here for their picture: Mr. Lawrence Catusi, Superintendent Davoren, Mrs. Mary E. Murray, Chairman Marco Balzarini, Mr. Wallace O'Brien, Attorney Anna M. Berardi, and Dr. Nicholas A. Mastroianni.

*We Are Proud Of Our New School Committee;
It Is Performing Its Duties
Effectively And Well.*

On behalf of the members of the Milford School Committee I am pleased to extend to the Class of 1947 of the Milford High School this message of greeting, congratulations, and good wishes for the future.

Each year there are thousands of young men and women graduated from the high schools of our country. Many of them will leave their Alma Maters with well-formulated plans for the years ahead. Many of them will not have arrived at a definite vocational or educational decision. These situations are to be expected. It is our sincere wish and hope, however, that the twelve years that you have invested in your education, particularly that the last four, have been soundly invested and that the dividends that you will receive in succeeding years will help you to attain durable satisfaction throughout your life. We hope also that your four years at Milford High School have impressed upon you the fact that to solve the problems of life successfully, you must be ready and able to meet them. You must be the possessor of a sterling character, one that will reflect credit and honor upon yourselves, your school, your family, and to society at large.

You will find, as one season rolls into another, that you will get as much out of life as you give to it. Do what you do, honestly and well; give what you give, cheerfully and unselfishly. Do your best at all times, in the fall, the winter, the spring, and the summer. Carry these thoughts with you in all seasons of the year. Our good wishes for your success go along with them.

Marco A. Balzarini, Jr.
Chairman of the School Committee

MR. DAVOREN AND MISS DILLON, his secretary, were just about to commence their new duties when this picture was taken. To Mr. Davoren, our superintendent of schools, we extend our sincere congratulations and best wishes. That beautiful bouquet of spring flowers was presented by the H. S. Teachers' Club.

Something New Has Been Added To; We Have A New Superintendent of Schools, Our Former Principal.

MR. DAVOREN SENDS HIS GREETINGS:

"May success shine upon each and every member of the class of 1947. May the teachings and counsel you have received during your Public School education fortify you in the complex responsibility which you are about to assume as citizens of our great freedom-loving and democratic country. May the Class of 1947 enjoy a full share of the multitudinous blessings and opportunities existing in our land today and in days to come."

David I. Davoren

THE SMILING OFFICE WORKERS pose here with Miss Florence Fertitta, Mr. Tosches' friendly and efficient secretary. They courteously wrote out our absent and tardy slips, and, oh yes, capably assigned to us those A-6 sessions, which we no doubt deserved. Oli wonders where the young Russo lad was when the picture was taken. He was always so helpful and willing that we shall give him at least a word-picture here. Yes, these office workers surely did help Florence out in this, her first year. Flo succeeded Mrs. Theresa (Del Castello) Visconti, of whom we were also very fond.

OUR NEW PRINCIPAL, MR. TOSCHES, SAYS:

"It is a pleasure for me to extend my congratulations to the Class of 1947. As each one of you enters into your chosen line of endeavor, it is my sincere wish that your attendance at the Milford High School will have proved invaluable in the attainment of success, and that you will cherish dearly the happy memories associated with your high school days."

Joseph J. Tosches

OUR DIRECTOR OF GUIDANCE says, "As school reopens each fall, and as the dreary winter season progresses to welcome the cheerful days of spring, I shall recall with pleasure my happy associations with the Class of 1947. I extend to you all a warm and friendly greeting for success in all seasons of the year. I would not be 'in character' unless I advised you to remember 'this above all—to thine own (best) self be true.' In conclusion, let me remind you once more to 'Carry the Message to Garcia' in spring or summer, winter or fall."

Harold M. Moran

OUR ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL says: "To the members of the Class of 1947, who have now reached their Commencement milestone, I extend my heartiest congratulations. Taken as a whole, education seeks to do two things: help young persons fulfill the unique, particular functions in life; and fit them so far as it can for those common spheres which, as citizens and heirs of a joint culture, they will share with others. We have striven to direct you toward those goals. May you always do credit to these three institutions: your home, your church, and your school."

James A. Higgiston

OUR ENGLISH DEPARTMENT TEACHERS: Seated, Dr. Marion Ryan, Department Head; L. to R.: Miss Callahan, Mr. O'Donnell, Miss O'Connell, Mr. Higgiston, Mr. Moran, Miss Cenedella, Mr. Davoren, Miss Rose.

OUR LANGUAGE AND FINE ART TEACHERS are: seated, Miss M. Burns, Miss Margaret Pianca, Department Head, and Miss De Salvia. Standing are Miss Helena Swift, Mr. Lancisi, and Miss Dorcas Whipple.

OUR SOCIAL SCIENCE TEACHERS: Seated, Miss Madeleine Kynoch, Department Head, Standing, L. to R.: Mr. Consoletti, Miss D. Callahan, Miss Farese, Miss M. Burns, Miss Callanan, Miss C. Lynch, and Mr. O'Donnell.

OUR COMMERCIAL FACULTY group is: seated, L. to R.: Miss Lynch, Miss Rose Farese, Department Head, Miss E. Burns. Standing, L. to R.: Miss Cenedella, Miss Pyne, Miss Rose, Miss Calarese, Miss Curtin.

OUR MATHEMATICS TEACHERS are: Seated at desk, Miss Mary Ford, Department Head. Standing are: L. to R., Miss Mary Burns, Mr. Tosches, Miss Eva Burns, Miss Curtin, Mr. Consoletti, and Miss Pyne.

OUR SCIENCE DEPARTMENT instructors are: Standing, L. to R., Mr. Philip O'Donnell, Mr. Fred Metcalf, Department Head, Miss Mary Ford, Miss Claire Lynch, Mr. Joseph Tosches, and Mr. Benjamin Consoletti.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS held important positions in our high-school life. It was the duty of William Wrenn, President; Evemarie Celozzi, Vice-President; Robert Andreotti, Treasurer; and Avis McKinley, Secretary; to help form our constitution so that succeeding classes might benefit by our initial attempt to form a student governing body here.

OUR THREE COACHES, the men who developed and promoted sports in all the seasons at the Milford High School, are pictured here. The teams turned out by them have the character and ability to win on both the playing field and the field of life. From left to right they are: Charles Brucato, athletic director of Milford Public Schools and the head coach of football and baseball; Joseph Hickey, assistant football coach; Vincent Dagnese, head coach of our basketball team. Milford High can be and is very proud of "our three."

GOOD OLE CLEM, although he didn't know it, obliged us by letting us take a shot of him in his inner "office." This same willingness to oblige, plus his friendly manner and recollection of his own school days, have won for him a host of close friends in and out of school. We wonder if he'll ever forget the day when the boilers broke down! Clem is an indispensable part of our school. He surely is proud of the president of the class of 1949, a chip off the old block. Why shouldn't he be? He's quite a nice lad, like his dad.

TWO FAMILIAR FIGURES on the high school scene are Mrs. Helen Breault, our School Nurse, and Mr. Arthur Vesperi, our Attendance Officer. The cuts and bruises of many an M. H. S. football hero have found relief under Mrs. Breault's capable care. Besides chasing delinquent pupils (but NO seniors!) Mr. Vesperi acted as the efficient manager of our cafeteria. His jovial disposition made him the friend of every student. Arthur honored us by letting US take his picture. He's ok!

*"You've all heard of the Proud Seniors.
Well, here's your chance to look us over."*

Our President

Gay—here's a little girl brimming over with pep and vitality—usually seen chewing a wad of gum—loves sports—often found playing a fast game of tennis in the park last summer—she's as sweet as she's sincere too.

ROBERT CHARLES BEMIS

Ambition: Theatre Manager

Hobby: Collecting Records

Pet Aversion: Homework

Activities: Commercial Club.

Loquacious—one can always find Bob in the midst of any noisy discussion—doing most of the discussing—though a comparative new-comer here, it didn't take him long to become "one of the crowd"—Success will come naturally to Bob.

ROMANA ANNA BERARDI

Ambition: Typist

Hobby: Sports

Pet Aversion: Being Called Romona

Activities: Dante Club 2, 3, 4.

Good-natured—a loyal friend—appearances are deceiving because under this quiet exterior of Romana's lies a bubbling personality; however social life never seemed to hold any charms for her—wonder why??? And with such a romantic name—she prefers sports!

JEAN MARIE BERNARDI

Ambition: Nurse

Hobby: Sports

Pet Aversion: Studying

Activities: Minstrel Show 4.

Demure—a double personality—serious in her work, gay on a good time. She has a sweet smile for everyone. We know all her patients will have a more pleasant convalescence with such a delightful nurse to attend them.

THERESA RACHEL BERNARDI

Ambition: Interior Decorator

Hobby: Music

Pet Aversion: Conceited Boys

Activities: Dante Club 2, 3;

Winsome—has a slow, drawly way about her that attracts attention and intrigues the opposite sex; however she is definitely a one-man-girl; Tessie and Jeesk are hoping they'll reach that middle-aisle. Much luck and happiness to you.

REGINA ANN BERRINI

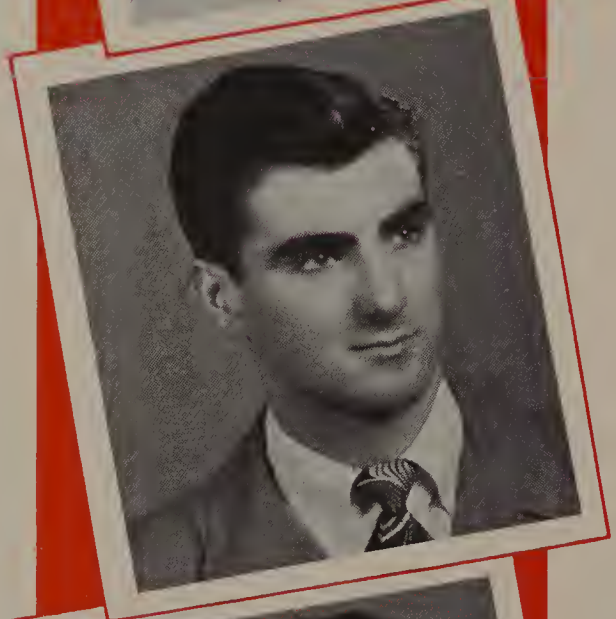

Ambition: Hairdresser

Hobby: Eating; Music

Pet Aversion: Waiting

Activities: Commercial Club

Demure—this quiet, dainty miss manages to win people very simply—How?—Just wait 'till she gives forth with that captivating smile! Certainly shows no sign of one hobby, eating—takes quite an interest in one of our alumni members.

ANTHONY PAUL BIBBO

Ambition: Mechanic

Hobby: Sports

Pet Aversion: Homework

Activities: Football 1, 2, 3; Co-Captain, 4; Basketball 3, 4.

Brawny—blithe—our outstanding co-captain on the gridiron and a threat on the basketball court—a menace too as he dashes into English A shouting, "Hey, what's for homework?"—like his shadows, Albie and Bob, Buddy's ambitious, agile and dexterous.

PETER MICHAEL BIBBO

Ambition: Dentist

Hobby: Collecting Records

Pet Aversion: B. T. O. Girls

Activities: Freshman Science Club; Minstrel Show 1, 3, 4; Basketball Manager 2, 3, 4.

Jovial—his mischief in the classroom has provoked many a hearty laugh—official morale lifter of our basketball team—prefers Duke Ellington to Iturbi, and plays the piano accordingly—to see "Pete" without Danny is like school without homework: Impossible.

HAZEL MARIE BOWDEN

Ambition: Secretary

Hobby: Records

Pet Aversion: Pistachio Ice Cream

Activities: Commercial Club, Vice President 2, 3, 4; O. L. I. Committee, Script Editor; Minstrel Show 4; Junior Ring Committee; Basketball 1; Selected Chorus.

Mischievous—keeps things humming—one of our best typists; hence, Mr. Higgiston's efficient (?) secretary—has a knack for getting into trouble—always immaculately and smartly dressed—enjoys shopping in the Gloria Chain—wonder why??—pleasant disposition—so—an enjoyable companion.

JEANNETTE MARIE BRUNO

Ambition: Nurse

Genuine—Possesses all the becoming graces of attractiveness, friendliness and loyalty—firmness of mind—strength and fixity of purpose—always well groomed—her well modulated voice and calmness of manner will be valuable assets which her patients will appreciate.

PASQUALE ANTHONY BUCCHINO

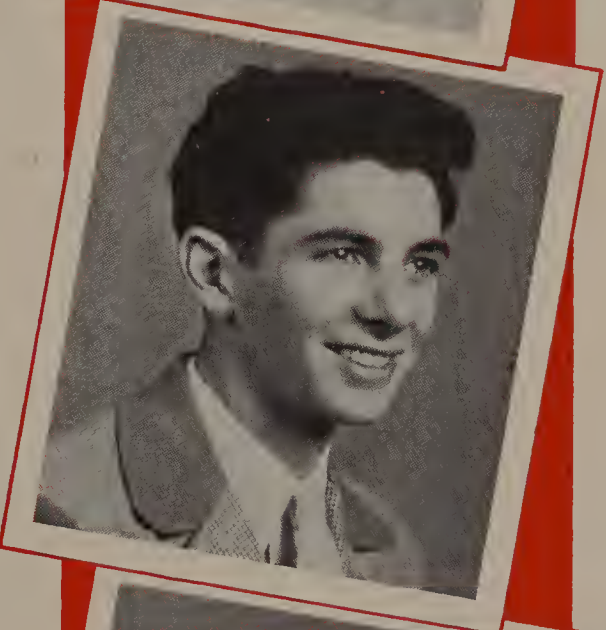

Ambition: Engineer

Hobby: Bowling

Pet Aversion: Oral Topics

Activities: Dante Club.

Sedate—ardent advocate of the golden rule—at socials, Patsy played the leading role in "The Little Man Who Wasn't There"—terror of the pin-boys at Davis' Bowling Alley—any similarity between Monday absenteeism and oral topics is purely coincidental!

MARY PATRICIA CAPUZZIELLO

Ambition: Hairdresser

Hobby: Dancing; Sewing

Pet Aversion: Kerchiefs

Activities: Dante Club 2, 3; Junior Dance Committee.

Sweet—To know her is to like her—her eyes mirror her sincerity and perseverance—always well groomed—clever with the needle—styles many of her own clothes—always concerned about homework—especially oral topics which she delights (?) in giving.

RUTH CAROLYN CARLSON

Ambition: Good Housewife

Hobby: Music

Pet Aversion: Pancakes

Activities: Debating Club; Commercial Club 2, 3; Minstrel Show 4.

Carefree—one of the first of our class to middle aisle it—we're sure Ruth will make an efficient housewife as she seems to know well how far Fifty-Cents will go—much luck to you in the future, Ruthie.

ELEANOR MARIE CASASANTA

Ambition: Musician

Hobby: Collecting Musicians' Pictures

Pet Aversion: Name Eleanor.

Activities: French Club; Theo-Harmon Club, President; Dante Club 2, 3.

Diligent—conscientious not only about school work, but about piano lessons—a most capable French student—worries about missing school and yet enjoys the days spent at the Boston Opera House with Alma—your classmates predict a brilliant future, Marie.

ROSE MARIE CIARAMICOLI

Ambition: Hairdresser

Hobby: Sports; Movies

Pet Aversion: Conceited People

Mild—placid—a very helpful and willing worker—quiet—her lack of conversation kept us at arm's length, but those who knew her valued her friendship very highly—was it the movies that kept you away from our socials, Rose?

LILLIAN OLGA CIFIZZARI

Ambition: Hairdresser

Hobby: Dancing; Baking

Pet Aversion: Snobs

Activities: Dante Club 2, 3.

Energetic—active—tackles everything with vim and vigor—a willingness to co-operate—uses up any idle time either in cooking, an art in which she excels, or in dancing—her popularity on the dance floor attests to that ability.

ELEANOR BEATRICE CIRONE

Ambition: Teacher

Hobby: Music; Dancing

Pet Aversion: Rainy Days

Activities: Dante Club 3, 4; French Club 4.

Gentle—Eleanor is one of those quiet serious persons who takes a bit of knowing—when one discovers her true worth, friendship with a worth-while girl is the result—has a sweet disposition which should gratify her future pupils.

ALDINA MARIE COELHO

Ambition: Medical Secretary

Hobby: Dancing

Pet Aversion: Waiting

Activities: French Club.

Sociable—poised—mingles with everyone—well-liked by all—one of the famous Old Maids—knows all the latest steps in dancing but specializes in jitterbugging—with your personality and determination, we know you will be a success in life, Deena.

ROBERT LOUIS CONSIGLI

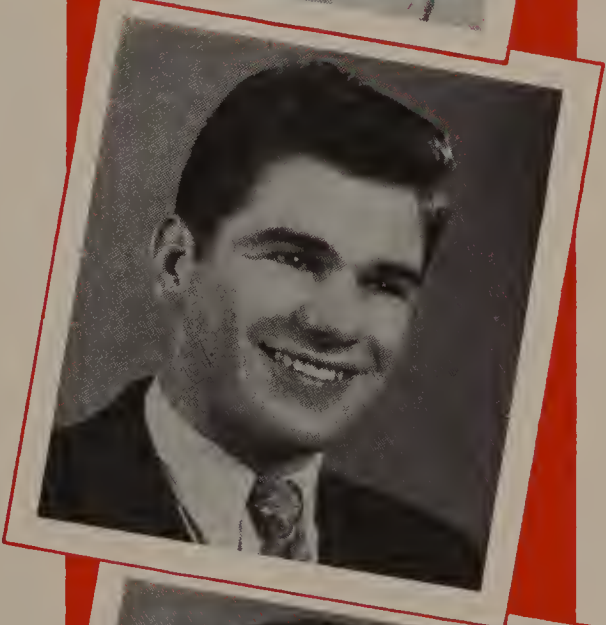

Ambition: Athletic Coach

Hobby: Digging Graves

Pet Aversion: Sophisticated Girls

Activities: Commercial Club; Dante Club 3, 4; Minstrel Show 4; Football 1, 2, 3, Co-captain 4; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4; Baseball 4.

Hearty—good natured—versatile—natural—a celebrated member of that sportive triumvirate, Albie, Buddy, and Robbie—he's a whirlwind on the gridiron, diamond and court—this ambitious lad's hobby (?) pays him well—never lets any grass grow under his feet!!!

ROBERT JOSEPH COSETTA

Ambition: Sportswriter

Hobby: Sports

Pet Aversion: Red Sox

Activities: Basketball Manager 1, 2, 4; Baseball Manager 3; Football 4.

Sports-minded—enjoys all sports—our efficient basketball manager for three years—a friendly disposition—always ready to share in a good joke, especially during third period—how about that pet aversion?—you don't actually mean that, Bob, do you?

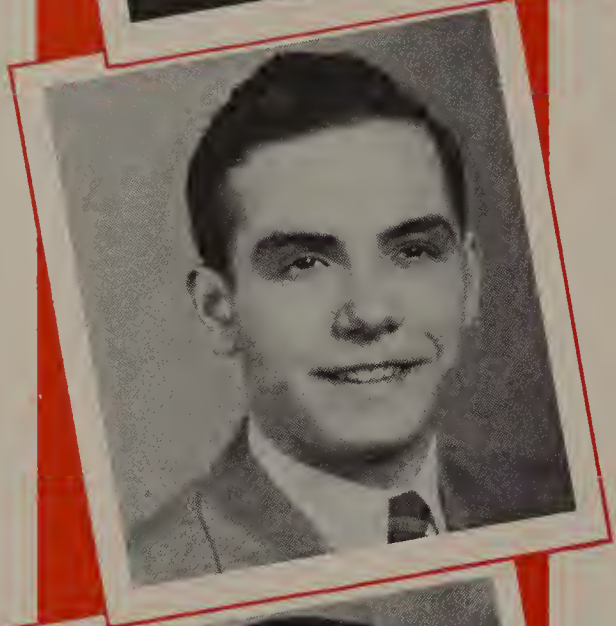

MARJORIE ESTHER COX

Ambition: Nurse

Hobby: Corresponding

Pet Aversion: Males

Complaisant—gentle—calm and well-poised at all times—traits which will help her to be a good nurse—never fails to have her homework done—unassuming—loves to write letters—enjoys drama, pictures and popular music.

ALFRED RAYMOND D'ALELIO

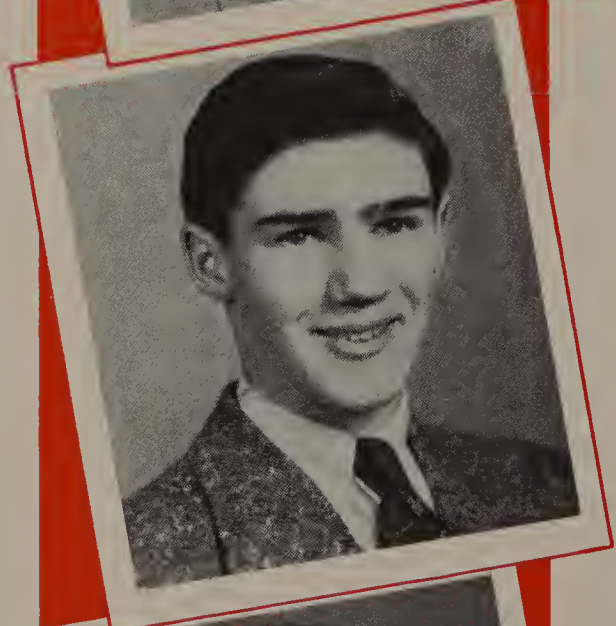

Ambition: Photographer

Hobby: Photography

Pet Aversion: Reading

Activities: Commercial Club 2, 3, 4; Minstrel Show 3, 4; Band 4.

Fun-loving—a faithful worker on the Commercial Club paper—in his glory when he is taking and developing pictures—homework never interferes with his good times—adds a personal touch to our socials—success to you as a photographer, Freddie.

GUY ROBERT D'AMELIO

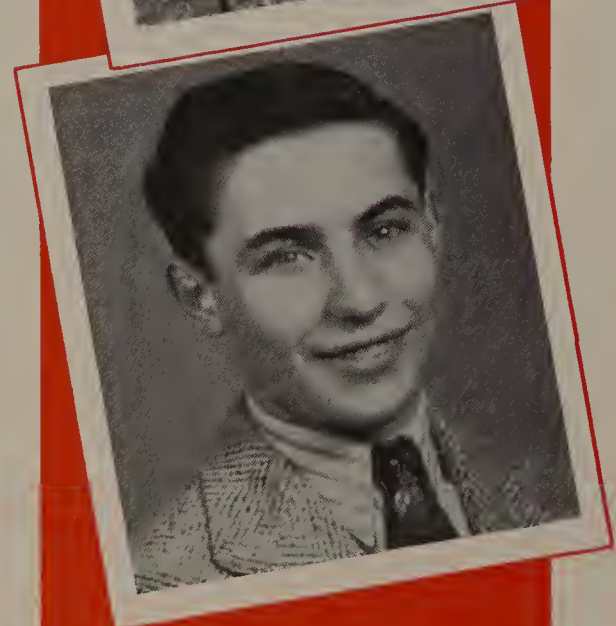

Ambition: Sportswriter

Hobby: Sports

Pet Aversion: Conceited Women

Activities: O. L. I. Committee, Circulation Manager; Baseball 2, 3, 4; Dante Club 3, 4; Monitor 4.

Well-liked—a petit fellow with a smile for everyone—never goes to our socials, but don't get him wrong, he likes the girls—prefers blondes—outside interests not generally known—studious—our loss will be Boston University's gain.

JAMES ANTHONY D'ARCANGELO

Ambition: Success in Life

Hobby: Sports

Pet Aversion: Getting Up Early

Activities: Junior Science Club; Student Council; O. L. I. Committee.

Reserved—without Jimmy Mr. Moran's office wouldn't be the same—courteous—dependable—never seems to be aware of the opposite sex, yet always knows the girls who have passed a certain grocery store.

JENNIE THERESA DeLUCA

Ambition: Office Clerk

Hobby: Skating; Dancing

Pet Aversion: Bossy People

Activities: Dante Club 2, 3, 4.

Benign—blushes easily but flashes a cute smile, too—enjoys roller skating—Italian assignments always prepared—never makes one aware of her presence—have missed her at our socials—Jinx is lost without her Aunt Toni.

MICHAEL JOHN DeLUCA

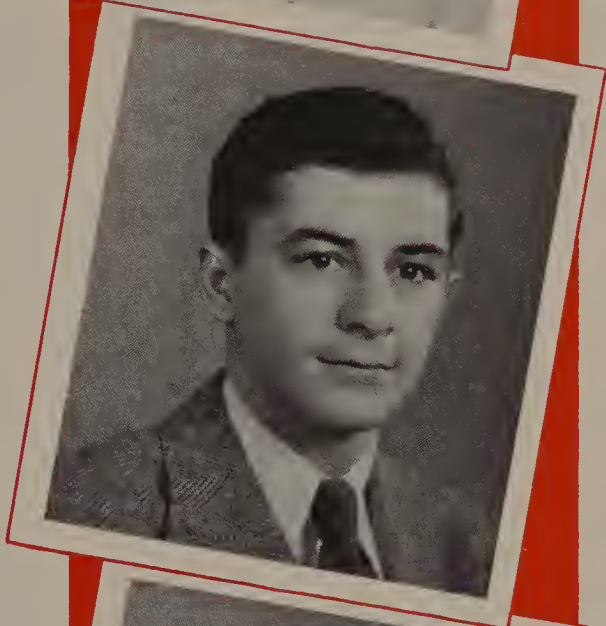

Ambition: Success In Life

Hobby: Sports

Pet Aversion: Dancing

Activities: Commercial Club; Intramural Basketball 1.

Pleasant—always smiling at girls—never hurries—nothing bothers Mike—not even school—until exam time—seldom pleases us by attending our socials—were you busy thinking up those whopper questions that you've asked Miss Farese for the past four years?

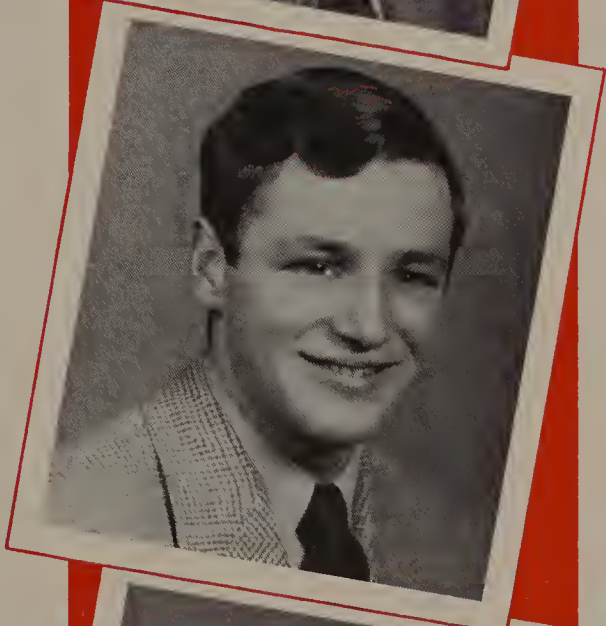

ALFRED GEORGE DePAOLO

Ambition: Electrician

Hobby: City Driving Pet Aversion: Teen Age B. T. O. Girls

Activities: Debating Club 3; Junior-Science Club 3; Minstrel Show 3; Student Council 4.

Active—likes to argue—a credit to the Debating Club—no one has a chance against his startling flood of words—brightens up our class rooms with his sharp ties and quips—keep it up, Al, and you'll succeed.

MARY LOUISE DEL VECCHIO

Hobby: Dancing; Bowling Pet Aversion: Getting Up Early

Activities: Dante Club, 2, Secretary, 3; Commercial Club 2, 3, 4; Minstrel Show 4; Special Chorus; O. L. I. Committee; Debating Club 3.

Vivacious—Mary is that rare combination of social and scholastic success—one of our most capable office girls—she possesses a pleasing personality enhanced by spontaneous laughter—loves to eat—those hot-dog and apple cider combinations attest to that.

REGINA ANN DeSANTIS

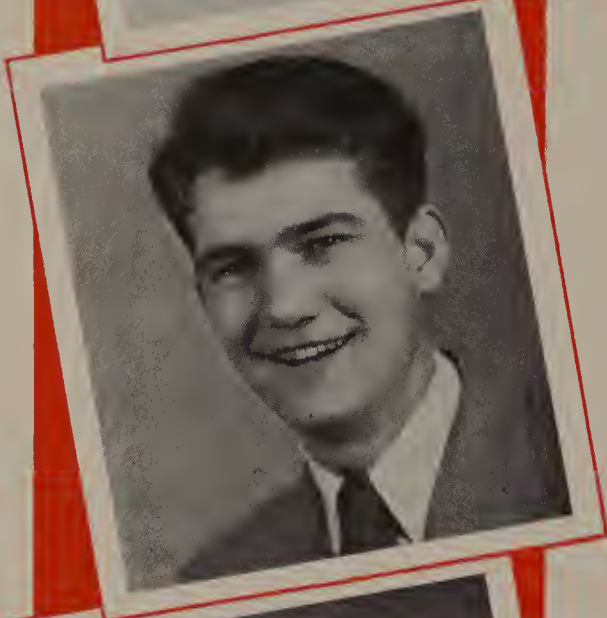

Ambition: Model Clothes

Hobby: Dancing

Pet Aversion: Early Rising

Activities: Commercial Club; Minstrel Show 4.

Attractive—no matter where she goes her merry laughter follows her—her sparkling personality will be quite an asset in her chosen career—already has a long line of admirers—but she manages to keep on an even keel.

DOMINIC P. DiFONZO

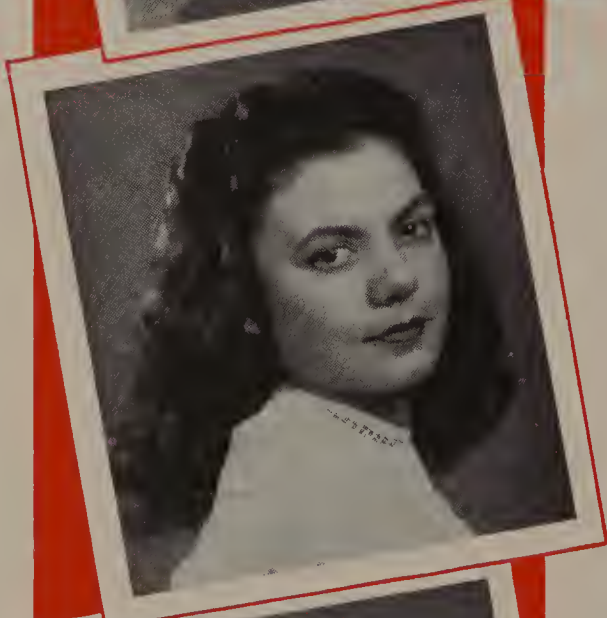

Ambition: Meat Cutter

Hobby: Music; Sports

Pet Aversion: Studying

Activities: Commercial Club 4, Band 1, 2, 3, 4.

Smooth—musically inclined—always well-mannered and very neatly dressed—the main attraction at the First National Store—homework never bothered Doc—we'll never forget his interpretation of Santa Claus—his pleasing personality has won him many friends and admirers.

LUCY MARIE DiMINO

Ambition: Medical Secretary

Hobby: Sports

Pet Aversion: Getting Up Early

Activities: Commercial Club 4; Basketball 4.

Adaptable—a newcomer to Milford High School but has made friends easily—carefree—energetic—active on the basketball court—living in the "sticks" must be quite different from living in Boston—we hope you've enjoyed your brief membership in our class.

SHIRLEY ANN DONAHUE

Ambition: Hairdresser

Hobby: Baby Sitting

Pet Aversion: Hay Fever

Activities: Basketball 1; Debating Club 3; Commercial Club 1, 2, 3, 4.

Timid—petite—possessor of a smooth, even disposition—Shirley's the girl with the lovely long lashes we all admire—she keeps her love-life hidden away inside her pretty head—come on, Shirl, what's your secret?

MARILYN FRANCES DOXEY

Pet Aversion: Kilroy

Activities: Band 1, 2, 3, 4; Minstrel Show 2, 3, 4; Junior Science Club; Junior Red Cross Inter-High School Council, Vice-President; Orchestra 2, 4.

Debonair—appears to be quiet but occasionally gives us a glimpse of his other self—likable—smart dresser—smooth dancer—one of the few who faithfully does his history—got a telegram to send?—give it to Coily.

HARRY WILLIAM WEBBER

Ambition: To Travel

Hobby: Sports

Pet Aversion: Homework

Activities: Student Council 1, 2, 3, 4; Minstrel Show; Science Club; Baseball; Basketball; Football.

Amusing—four years at Milford High haven't changed Harry—he's still as mischievous as ever—we'll never forget those comical facial expressions—history classes were certainly enlivened with his clever wit—by the way, Itchie, are you sure that was McKenzie you continually stared at?

WILLIAM CHARLES WRENN

Ambition: Minister

Hobby: Bowling

Pet Aversion: Musical Commercials

Activities: Student Council 1, 2, 3, President, 4; Press Club, Vice-President, 2; Science Club 3, 4; French Club, President 4; Minstrel Show 4; Junior Dance Committee; Senior Dance Committee; Debating Club, President, 3; Boys' State Representative; O. L. I. Committee, Production Manager; Junior-Senior Reception.

Dignified—the above list testifies to the popularity, personality and character of Bill—weren't we proud of his presence in the front row the day a guest speaker talked about sartorial perfection! Our good wishes for your most worthy ambition.

ROSE MARIE ZACCHILLI

Ambition: Hairdresser

Hobby: Listening to Music

Pet Aversion: Studying

Activities: Commercial Club.

Amiable—Rose's charming personality has won many admirers—if she ever had any worries, her ever-ready smile hid them from us—Rose and Ada will be a genial twosome in their beauty shoppe—what's the latest in Hollywood, Rose?

ADA FRANCES ZACCHILLI

Ambition: Hairdresser

Hobby: Reading Movie Magazines

Pet Aversion: The Name Ada

Activities: Commercial Club.

Animated—our "laugh and the world laughs with you" girl—Ada's desk supplies wouldn't be complete without a copy of the latest movie magazine—never attends our socials—she'd rather spend a quiet evening reading about her favorite movie actor.

TERESA MARY ZACCHILLI

Ambition: Secretary

Hobby: Sports

Pet Aversion: Oral Topics

Activities: Dante Club 2, 3, 4; Commercial Club 4.

Tranquil—has her likes and dislikes, but never expresses them loudly—enjoys sports, especially baseball—great admirer of Ted Williams—attends our socials occasionally—is it because of a deeper interest elsewhere, Teresa?—how about it?

Oli's Pleased With Interesting Meetings Conducted By Student Council.

Time marches on! We now have a student council at our school. It was introduced by Mr. Davoren and is the outgrowth of the Student Association. In years to come it will, we hope, shape up into an important part of our school.

Oli's Convinced That Student Council Planned Top Programs For Us.

We realize that there is still very much left to do, but we were not a selfish class. Not by any means. We helped each other out in more ways than one. We have tried to help out other classes, too, by starting a worth-while organization.

OUR JUNIOR SCIENCE CLUB had all of these members, but because of so little space here, we shall identify a few . . . important ones! Pres. Dave Tredeau faces Vice-Pres. Joe Harris, R. Shuber, Treas., and Marie Luisetti, Sec., all in front row. We held our meetings at night in this lecture room.

Oli and Olette Were Fascinated By Experiments Conducted By the Junior Science Club.

JUNIOR SCIENCE CLUB members, again our embryo scientists, have completed another interesting, educational and highly successful year. The senior officers this year were: David Tredeau, President, and Regina Shuber, treasurer.

This club has been functioning here for seventeen years and has become a time-honored institution of the school, serving as a motivating influence to the science students to do creditable work in order to be admitted into membership. At the club meetings, knowledge of the latest developments in the scientific world is obtained through the medium of lectures or of motion pictures. Interesting discussions follow, thus affording all an opportunity of self-expression.

Various well planned and conducted parties were held for the enjoyment of club members and their guests. To be invited to one of these affairs is quite an honor. The club's traditional Christmas and May parties are always eagerly anticipated and are among the highlights of the social season.

The members of the Junior Science Club are deeply grateful to Mr. Metcalf, our adviser, for the time he so kindly and generously devoted to his budding physicists in the Class of 1947.

THE FRENCH CLUB, or if you will, LE CERCLE DE JEAN D'ARC, enjoyed three very successful seasons with Mlle. Pianca. How can we ever forget her "Bonjour, mes jeunes amis," all of whom you can see here: Mlles. E. Circone, T. Johnson, and C. Stone, Bill Wrenn, N. Reynolds, A. Coelho. Standing are: C. Mastroianni, E. Casasanta, L. Beccia, and E. Kelley. Nous etions une bonne classe, la classe de 1947. Que pensez-vous?

We are grateful to Miss Swift for her interest, hospitality, and capable instruction.

THE GERMAN CLUB: End, Prouty, Sec.; Mastroianni, Vice-Pres.; Villani, Pres.; Johnson, Treas. (all seated); G. Falconer, J. Bruno, E. Celozzi, B. Lewis, R. Shuber, E. Kelly (all standing); seem to be discussing that trip to Lasell when they were guests of Fraulein Pianca. The program that day was as enjoyable as our year was with Miss Pianca as our teacher.

Oli and Oliette Congratulate Yearbook Committee On Their Excellent Work.

Believe us, we of the Class of 1947 are surely appreciative of the work done by this committee. We don't need to take our hats off to any class. The workers who raised the funds, who wrote, typed, and prepared copy are listed on these two pages.

Oliette Captivated By Educational And Social Activities Presented By The Dante Club

The re-organization of Il Circolo Dante, this year under the supervision of Miss Mafalda De Salvia, was eagerly looked forward to by over one hundred students of the Italian language. The overwhelming enthusiasm of this group predicted the success the club was to enjoy in one of its best years.

Plans were immediately formulated for participation in activities that would be both entertaining and interesting. At the very first meeting, the club decided to have a Christmas dance in December, but out of respect to Mr. Frank C. Berry, our former superintendent, whose unfortunate death grieved us all deeply, the dance was canceled. Each member of the Dante Club, however, anticipated with pleasure, its annual May party, one of the best ever given.

The activities of the Dante Club were not confined to recreation alone. Its primary aim was to promote an interest in the Italian language and culture. Accordingly, our adviser, Miss De Salvia, gave us an interesting glance into Italian life. This information was enhanced by the reading of books written by Italy's most famous authors. Yes, we had a most enjoyable, profitable, and successful year.

SWIFT CONTESTANTS in 1947 who increased interest in and respect for our Constitution in the annual contest sponsored by the Honorable Judge John E. Swift, a distinguished alumnus of this school, are L. Fitzgerald, R. Aldrich, J. Areano, H. Morin, E. Celozzi, R. Shuber, T. Johnson, Wrenn, Villani, and Andreotti. Regina Shuber and Anthony Villani were declared the winners.

THE STUDENT COUNSELORS, selected by Mr. Harold Moran, our capable and efficient Director of Guidance, are seen here grouped around him in his office. They are Robert Andreotti, who had charge of the student monitors, Rita Aldrich, appointment secretary, June Larson, educational counselor, Helen Morin, placement counselor, James D'Arcangelo, office assistant, Louise Beccia, typist, and Nancy Prouty, cataloger.

BUDGET CLUB TREASURERS, J. Santacroce, R. Aldrich, G. Falconer, and M. Mancuso (absent) made their report every Monday morning to Miss Catherine Curtin, who acted as faculty adviser. Budget-minded seniors deposited a sum of money with their homeroom treasurers, who would add it to our bankbooks. This valuable method of saving helped us to defray necessary graduation expenses. By the time June came around, oh boy! $ $ $ $ $ $ $

Standing: D'Alesio, Oliva, (dropped), Tredeau, Votolato, Rossacci, Pederzoli, Herlihy, Tarpinian, Walker, Marcolini, Bibbo, Consigli, Lasorsa. H. Webber was absent at the time.

Senior Week Committee Is Highly Praised By Oli For Untiring Efforts.

"I had a great time" is the way we knew we would feel after Commencement Week. We were not to be disappointed with our final week because through the combined efforts of Mr. Moran and these classmates we were assured of a "great time."

Oli And Olette Were Informed Of School Activities Through Medium Of Commercial Club Paper.

The Milford High School Commercial Club was organized in the year 1939. Ever since then it has proved to be one of the most active clubs in the Milford High School, thanks to Miss Eva Burns, commercial teacher, who founded it and has served throughout the year as its adviser.

The purpose of this club is to better acquaint the pupils with the commercial subjects offered them, and to develop the abilities, aptitudes, and skills needed for the world of business. The club also acquaints the members with the problems of home and community, so that they may learn how to become better citizens. The success of the club is due to the efforts of our adviser, Miss Burns, whose able supervision has enabled us to have such a worthwhile organization.

At this year's organization meeting, the following officers were elected: President, Alfred D'Alesio; Vice-President, Nancy Pacella; Treasurer, Jean Tocchi; and Secretary, Madeline Paradiso. The Program, Social, Constitutional, and Nominating committees were also elected at this meeting.

It is hoped that all future students of the commercial department will become members of this club and thus avail themselves of the many excellent opportunities it offers.

OUR SCHOOL PAPER, THE M. H. S. COMMERCIAL, is a worthwhile service to the school by the Commercial Club. Its appearance each month was eagerly awaited by us all. To those pictured here: Louise Beccia, Editor-in-chief; Frances Ferrante, Art Editor; Alfred D'Alesio, Managing Editor; Edward Ghelli and Arnold Votolato, Sports Editors; as well as to Miss Burns, we extend a deserved "Congratulations on a job well done."

STUDENT LIBRARIANS: Mary Romanazzi, Ada Zacchilli, Constance Lument, Jean Healy, Jennie Sannicandro, Marie Luisetti, Pearl Sweet and Betty Hixon are part of the answer to our efficiently run library. Here they are with Miss Madeleine Kynoch of the faculty, who each year unselfishly devotes much of her time in order that we might have the smoothly functioning library, of which we are very proud and which yearly proves its worth.

CAFETERIA WORKERS: A. Consigli, A. Bibbo, P. McCausland, L. Bertonazzi, W. Kearnan, D. D'Alesio, R. Alberta, P. Palanzi, F. Petracca, R. Berardi, L. Vesperi, B. Streeter, C. Moran, R. Melpigano, and R. Grillo were of great help to Mr. Arthur Vesperi, supervisor, as we beat a path at recess to this spot, to receive our vitamins. They were the source of our sustenance. We were all treated well and fairly by Arthur and his workers.

A TRULY HILARIOUS EVENING was had at the Minstrel Show. An outstanding event occurred when endmen Wrenn and Consigli tried to fall off the stage! We hope you all enjoyed our "ediface of mirth" as much as we did Anthony Volpe in his Shakespearean appearance. Norry Lessard's direction of the band was superb.

Outstanding Performance Of Minstrel Show; Cast Rated High Praise From O. And O.

Every graduating class since 1936 has acclaimed its M. H. S. Minstrel Show to be the best ever. The Class of 1947 is no exception. We go the preceding classes one better, however, by proclaiming that there never will be a show like "Memories." Under the skillful direction of Mr. Ben Lancisi the show grew from an assorted variety of ideas to a full house on opening night. Dave McGill of the Junior Class was the suave Interlocutor. He did a good job too. Laughs a-plenty were provided by Rastus Consigli, Ignats Webber, Mo Oliva, Amos De Pasquale, Honeychile Wrenn, and Sugarfoot Morte. The Musical High-light of the show was a harmony quartet consisting of Regina De Santis, Barbara Trant, Gean Falconer and Helen Morin. Yes, indeed, the Class of 1947 thinks this show was great.

HARLEY BREAUT is seen in left oval. Endmen R. Consigli, Wrenn, and De Pasquale gaze into space. Our Quartet: R. De Santis, B. Trant, H. Morin, G. Falconer. Here we see our interlocutor McGill in right oval.

OUR RELIABLE BAND, with baton twirlers, smile after three successful seasons. From L. to R., some are: B. Lancisi, P. Areano, L. Bertonazzi, B. Richardson, F. Rose, Drum-Major, J. LaBounty, T. Petracca, B. Miller, and R. Aldrich. The others are too numerous to mention, but we feel certain, however, that you will know them all. Quite a group, especially the baton twirlers! Ahem!!

Oli And Oliette Cheered As The Band Played Tunes Of Alma Mater.

Under the capable direction of Ben Lancisi, Jr., the Milford High School Band presented a season of entertaining and pleasing music. Without such a leader at the helm there would have indeed been discord. Many thanks for your excellent instruction, Ben. You're okeh! We have all seen and admired our attractive band when it played at football games or marched in the many parades and functions it participated in. It played in nearly every game during the year, giving us much pleasure as we watched and heard our Milford High School musicians. We were indeed proud of you! Those snappy red and white uniforms; those marching tunes; those lively steps all contributed toward enlivening our school days.

SOME BAND LEADERS: Aldrich, in circle, D'Alesio, Di Fonzo, Pederzoli, Di Antonio, and Bertonazzi. Majorette Guerierro, our majorette, is the gal in the right oval.

Some Shots

H. M. M.'S ENGLISH A-6 class was heavy on the girl side; so we'll identify only the boys as they were seated in the rear (For purposes of this shot only!): Pederzoli, Webber, Walker, Rossacci, Bibbo, Consigli, Ghelli, Lasorsa, De Luca, D'Alesio. Who is that solitary male in front? He rates.

MISS FORD'S CHEMISTRY (college) pupils will be among the last two classes to have Miss Ford as a teacher. She retires at the end of next year after many years of excellent service. There are four P. G.'s here. Can you find them?

MISS FARESE'S ECONOMICS CLASS listens attentively as Joe Eliase, in the background, does some necessary reading called for in the day's assignment. Just notice the very attractive appearance of the room. Miss Farese was always on the search for some helpful chart or picture.

A TYPICAL FALL SCENE is this one of our drum majorette Guerriero and of baton twirlers Breault, Hixon, Trant, Mastroianni, Alzerini, Buscone, and Lombardi. The fallen leaves carry out our theme very well. "This is a Kearsley Portrait," for which we are thankful.

To Remember

INTERESTED CHEMISTRY PUPILS turn their attention to their text books to study a chemical reaction. Under the capable instruction of Mr. Tosches, many interesting lectures were held. Pictured standing to the right, we see Santo Lasorsa giving the "complete" explanation.

THUMBING THROUGH REFERENCE BOOKS we see some senior members of the now extinct Debating Club doing a bit of research. Seated we find B. Lewis, L. Fitzgerald, D. MacRae, S. Lasorsa, G. Falconer. Standing: R. Shuber, R. Mabey, J. Healy, A. De Paolo, and L. Lombardi.

BUSY TYPING PUPILS, who had Miss Agnes Lynch as their teacher, kept busily at work trying to get ahead on their budgets, for purposes of the future. It's Stanley Farr who had the distinction of being the wolf. Lucky Stanley, but he always seemed to be that way—lucky!

MR. DAVOREN'S CLASS in English B met during the fourth period in Room A-6. After he was elevated to the position of superintendent of schools, Mr. Davoren had to part from this group that had him as teacher, principal, and superintendent. Things do go in three's!

THE TEN SENIORS in the above group, who studied the lineup which Coach Brucato had been calling upon for first string duty. Only Macchi (42), Micelotti (53), Torosian (66), and McCausland (55), will be available next year. Front row: Webber, Macchi, Micelotti, Bibbo, Lasorsa, Oliva and R. Consigli. Back row: Torosian, Morte, Paganelli, Petrini, A. Consigli, McCausland, and Votolato.

Oli Broke Into Turbulent Applause As Football Squad Headed For Successful Season.

CO-CAPTAINS BIBBO AND CONSIGLI were outstanding among the players. They carried on through thick and thin, bringing credit to the Red and White!

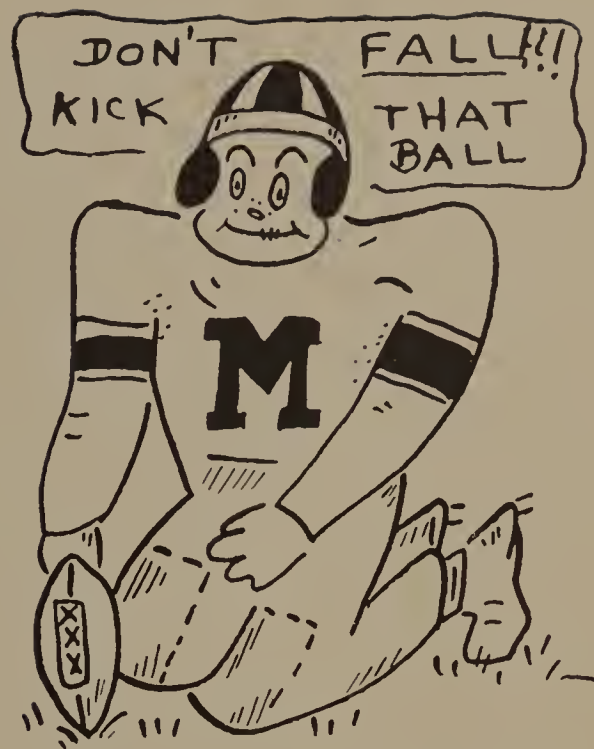

For the first time in many years, the 1946 Football Team presented a formidable opposition to the rival schools. Milford started the season with a 6-0 victory over Millbury. Milford next journeyed to Clinton, but Clinton eked out a hard-earned 7-0 victory. The following week Milford suffered another defeat at the hands of Natick 19-6. After holding a strong Marlboro team to a 0-0 decision, Milford regained its winning stride, defeating Franklin 20-0, Hudson 13-6, and Uxbridge 20-0. For additional scores, see the next page.

Summary: Co-Captain Bob Consigli was an excellent pass-receiver and a mainstay in the Milford defense. Co-Captain Buddy Bibbo, one of the finest centers Milford has ever produced, was hurt midway through the season and was unable to play for the rest of the schedule. Al Consigli, a hard running back, gained many yards for the Red and White. He was a triple-threat, being a fine passer, runner and kicker. Chuck Votolato's accurate passing was a thorn in the side of the enemy. Sisto Petrini proved to be a pass-snaring end and a crack fullback. Babe Oliva and Santo La Sorsa were the cause of many headaches of the enemies' backfield. Oliva was also an excellent place kicker, in fact one of the finest in these parts. Jack Paganelli and Doc Morte ripped off much valuable yardage in many games. Harry Webber more than once threw back enemy thrusts. We were ALL good! Even the managers.

"Good Sportsmanship And Fair Play Are Essential In Moulding A Victorious Team," says Oli. "We Had Both."

ENTIRE 1946 FOOTBALL SQUAD: First Row: Coach Hickey, Oliva, Macchi, Votolato, Morte, Paganelli, R. Consigli, Bibbo, A. Consigli, Petrini, Lasorsa, McCausland, Coach Brucato. Second Row: Fac. Mgr. J. A. Higgiston, Volpe, Pessotti, Webber, Tosches, Moran, Guerriere, Giacomuzzi, Mastroianni, Gerard, Prin. D. I. Davoren. Third Row: Cosetta, Montesano, Di Pietro, Micelotti, Torosian, Diotallevi, Cosetta, Tomaso, Taylor, De Pasquale. Fourth Row: Farr, Nelson, Boni, Santoro, Covino, Rizzi, Capuzziello, Jionzo, Tredeau, Votolato, Ghelli.

BASKETBALL STARTING LINEUP: "Itchy" Webber, Bob Votolato, Arnold Votolato, Coach Dagnese, Buddy Bibbo, Ding Ahearn, and Bob Pederzoli. Their technique in finding the hoop accounted for the enviable record we made on the court this year.

Outstanding Performance Of Milford High Hoopsters Proudly Acclaimed By Oli And Olette.

CHUCK VOTOLATO was one of the highest scorers until he was sidelined with an ankle injury. He was called the "demon of the court" because of his shiftiness and ability to play.

Under the direction of Coach Vinny Dagnese, the Milford High Basketeers had one of their most successful seasons. Milford opened the season by defeating an unbeaten Blackstone five. This victory was followed by successive wins over Uxbridge, Maynard, Clinton, and Natick. The first defeat was at the hands of Framingham.

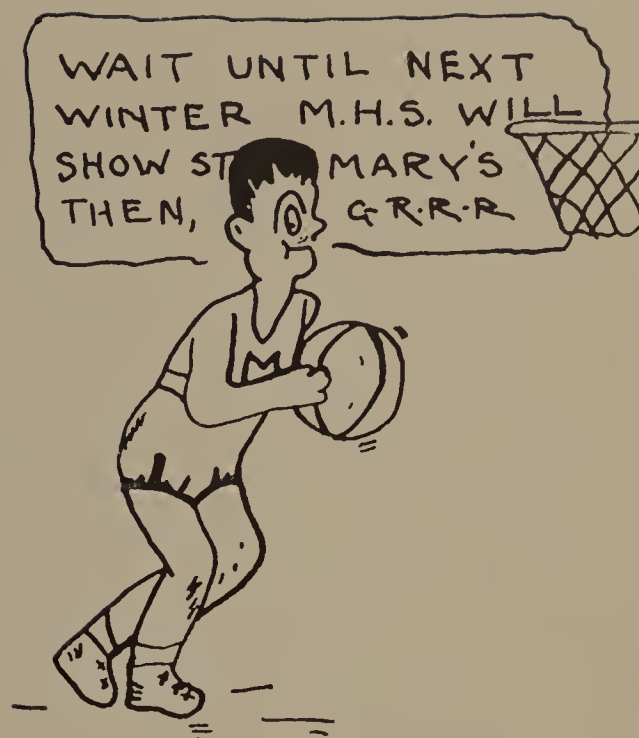

In the first game of the Town Championship Series with St. Mary's, our boys were installed as favorites. However, St. Mary's turned the tables, winning to the tune of 46-42. The second game with St. Mary's was a thrilling contest. After a hard fought game, the Milford quintet dropped a 36-32 decision. The team finished the season with an over-all record of ten victories against five defeats. The starting five was composed of Ding Ahearn, the team's leading scorer, and Bobby Votolato at the forwards. Lanky Bob Pederzoli, a veteran from last year's team, was at center. The guard slots were capably handled by Captain Chuck Votolato and a two year veteran, Buddy Bibbo, but during the latter half of the season, Milford was without the services of the captain, Chuck Votolato. The starting five was always ably backed in times of distress by Daniel De Santis, Harry Webber, Al Consigli, and Dave Tredeau.

Next year's team will compare favorably with this year's club because of the splendid record set up by the Junior Varsity.

Oli And Olette Witnessed The Milford High Quintet In Thrilling Series With Saint Mary's.

OUR BASKETBALL VARSITY was comprised of: First row: P. Bibbo, Cosetta (Managers), Webber, B. Votolato, A. Votolato, A. Bibbo, Ahearn, Pederzoli, Coach Dagnese. Second row: R. Consigli, A. Consigli, McCausland, De Santis, Moran, Elliott, De Capua, Callery, Capuzziello, and Ghelli. We won 10 out of 15 games. There will be ten graduation casualties in June.

VARSITY BASKETBALL BELLES presented an excellent program. A number of scheduled games were played both out of town and on our home court. Good sportsmanship and fair play were shown in all contests. L. to R.: F. Morelli, M. Doxey, N. Pacella, L. Di Mino, M. Lombardi, B. Hixon, M. Iannetti, N. Reynolds, and H. Guerriero.

Capable Basketeers Presented An Interesting Schedule In Their Many Well-Played Games.

CO-CAPTAINS MORELLI AND GUERRIERO did all right by us. What fun we had. Remember the screams? The season ended all too soon, except for Miss Rose.

Early in January the call came for girls' basketball. About fifty belles answered the call enthusiastically. Once again we enjoyed a very successful year under the supervision of Miss Edith Rose and Mr. Charles Brucato to both of whom we extend our thanks.

The Varsity team was captained by Diddy Morelli and Helen Guerriero. Diddy was high scorer. We were allowed the use of the court twice a week, Mondays and Thursdays, and if one was anywhere in the building, he well knew that the noise and excitement were coming from the auditorium. The scores were often close, but Miss Rose was always there on the spot with the rules and regulations that prevented disputes.

The Varsity Team traveled to Dean Academy in Franklin and to Wellesley High. Although we were defeated in both of these games, we put up a good fight. We also played and defeated the Hopedale High Hoopsters on our own court. Betty Hixon and Lucy DiMino sparked us on to this victory. Of course, we can't forget our Jayvees captained by Marilyn Doxey. We shall always remember Marilyn's long shots and the inexhaustible energy of Grace Ferrucci.

Jenny Sannicandro was our manager and sometimes timekeeper. We were certainly glad to have someone like Jenny around. The season came to a close all too soon.

Our Captivating Damsels Cut A Keen Figure On The Court When Oli Sneaked A Peek.

OUR ENTIRE BASKETBELLES smile here with Miss Rose, their capable coach. They are: front, J. Pizzillo, M. Tetlow, B. Trant, B. Hixon, Co-Captain Guerriero, M. Lombardi, N. Pacella, B. Ward, R. Cipriani. Back row: Miss Rose, Co-Captain Flo Morelli, G. Ferrucci, G. Vesperi, M. Doxey, M. Marcone, L. Dimino, M. Villani.

NINE GOOD MEN: Left to right they are: Arnold Votolato, Eddie Ghelli, Bob Votolato, Ray Elliott, Sisto Petrini, Babe Oliva, Bob Pederzoli, Guy D'Amelio, Santo Lasorsa. We wonder if any of these boys will step up and overshadow Ted Williams or Joe DiMaggio, or even our own product from good old Milford High—Hank Comolli. Time alone can supply the answer.

When Oli Observed The Milford High School Baseball Team, He Predicted A Successful Season.

CAPTAIN SISTO PETRINI is about to "rob" some opponent of a hit. How much do you bet that he was successful? You know Sisto!

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to—no, not love, but baseball. This is especially true at Milford High, for over forty eager boys turned out early in April for the first day of practice under the leadership of Coach Brucato.

Such stars as Castiglione, Comolli, Kimball, and San-chione cannot be replaced, but a large number of returning veterans from last year's team made the prospects for the coming season appear very bright.

Several intensive weeks of training followed, in which Coach Brucato's future team began to form. From the twenty odd men on the squad, an infield of Oliva, Elliot, R. Votolato, and Boni shaped up as being a fast, steady quartet. Behind the plate Capuzziello loomed up as an excellent prospect, with Jionzo in reserve. In the outfield a hot battle was being waged between Captain Petrini, Tosches, Lasorsa, and G. D'Amelio for their respective positions. Mound aces Chuck Votolato and Giacomuzzi, backed by Imbruno and De Manche, held promise of producing one of the best pitching staffs in years.

Looking at the team as a whole, Milford should have a fairly strong punch at the disk, a sound infield and outfield on defense, and an excellent pitching corps.

By the time this book is published the season will be completed. Milford will have its share of victories and defeats, but we know that in every game the team will have valiantly upheld the colors of M. H. S.

Some Good

MR. DAVOREN IS GIVING A LUSTY CHEER at the Milford High-St. Mary's game. To his right are Coaches Brucato and Dagnese. Sitting in the foreground are the Javees, who won 15 games and lost one. They are surrounded by a large crowd of excited spectators. This shot is a real candid view.

THE CHAMPS OF THE INTRAMURAL LEAGUE. These sharpshooters, captained by Danny De Santis, really sank those baskets. They are good prospects for next year's basketball team. They are as follows: L. to R. Grillo, De Capua, Bianchi, De Santis, Moran, Liberto, Lancisi.

IT'S A SECRET who these girls are. Maybe you know them, but Olette promised not to tell just in case Cupid might miss the mark when he shoots his arrow. If you know their faces—well—so do we, but—

THE LAST BIG SNOWSTORM of the winter found Mr. Tosches leaving the building with a copy of the dummy of the book. His two children are with Howie Sears, next door neighbor of Mr. Moran.

Athletic Shots

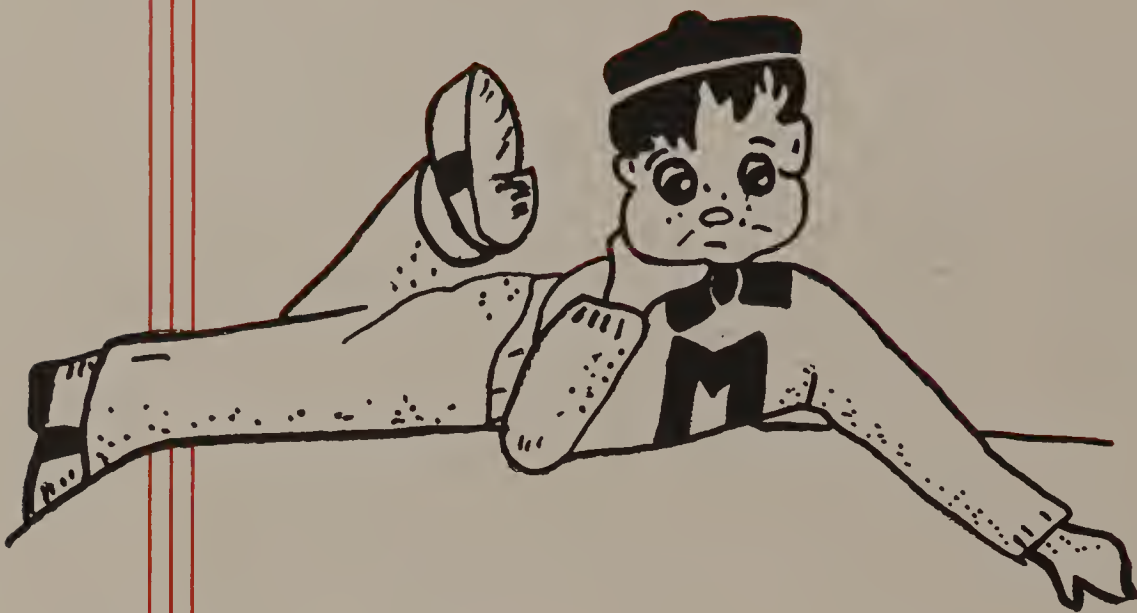

CHEER LEADERS who helped considerably to put punch and drive into many of our school's athletic contests are: front row: Alma Petrilli, Florence Morelli, and Lucy Lombardi, all of the class of 1947, with June Larson and Helen Hickey (standing) of the class of 1948.

LITTLE BOY BLUE might indeed be a relative of any of us. He is Oli's cousin-in-law's friend and represents here just how Oli felt on a Monday morning in the spring, summer, fall, or winter. P. S. That's just how Olette felt too!

SOME OF OUR BEST ATHLETES: Handsome Buddy Bibbo, Angie Lasorsa, Bob Pederzoli, Bob Consigli and Itchy Webber seem to be kidding Al Consigli, but Al could always take it! Shoe laces and belts seem to present their usual problem.

SENIOR MONITORS: Seated: Rossacci, Wrenn, R. Aldrich, Andreotti; Chairman, DePaolo, G. Falconer. Standing: A. Consigli, D'Amelio, E. Kelley, R. Shuber, Bibbo, and R. Consigli, checked our corridor passes with care.

Mind Over Matter

Jackie Grayson was heartbroken. He had awakened this morning and found himself in a bed at the Warm Springs, Georgia, hospital. Last night he had dreamed that he was home among all his friends. But here he was still in a ward among invalids.

To the other boys, today meant something special, for they were going to the ballpark to see the Boston Bluebirds and the New York Lions play. But to Jackie it was just another long day.

Jackie was a problem to the doctors at Warm Springs. According to his personal history, Jackie was the best player in his native state. They had arranged to have the boys go to this game primarily for Jackie's sake. But there he was sitting in his chair, showing no enthusiasm at all.

When the nurse was getting Jackie ready for the trip, she asked him cheerfully, "Well, Jackie, who do you think will win the game today?"

"The Bluebirds," he answered in a monotone.

"I'm willing to bet New York will beat them," said the nurse in an effort to prolong the conversation. As Jackie made no answer, she repeated the remark.

"Why, the Lions haven't got a chance," said Jackie slowly and without any special interest.

"They haven't? Well, I know for a fact that they have some mighty powerful hitters."

At that Jackie raised his head and replied, "But they haven't a hitter like Ted Phillips."

"But Ted Phillips isn't a team man. He's just a temperamental child who—"

At this point the doctor entered and interrupted the discussion that was gradually developing into an argument. He announced to the boys and to the nurses who were to accompany them that the buses were ready to leave.

The buses were specially built for the boys in the wheel chairs. As Jackie sat quietly in his place, his nurse, who was always by his side, watched the expression on his face. She knew that their conversation had turned Jackie's mind to baseball, for he began to smile a little now.

His mind had traveled back two years. He could see himself at Payne Field now. It was a decisive game for his team. If they won, they would be State Champions. If they lost, they'd still be County Champions, and Mom would think that her Jackie was the best baseball player in the land. So, here it was at the last half of the ninth inning, and the score was tied, three to three. Jackie walked up to the plate. The crowd cheered. The bases were loaded, and two men were out. It was all up to Jackie now. The count on him was three balls and two strikes. The next pitch was in there, and Jackie smacked it into the right field corner for an inside-the-park homer. As he crossed home plate, his teammates lifted him on their shoulders and marched around the diamond. Jackie was the hero of the game. Every sports column contained his name. He was a child prodigy. Imagine a seventh grader hitting a home run! And he's only twelve years old. When he's twenty, he should be the greatest hitter of all time. Yes, he should be. But look at him now!

Jackie's expression changed. His thoughts had turned to the present, to himself sitting there in a wheel chair, a victim of infantile paralysis.

Suddenly the bus came to a stop and the driver shouted, "All out!"

The twenty boys were wheeled to a special section of the ball park. They had perfect seats on the first base line. From here they could see every player clearly. Here Jackie gradually forgot about himself, and shouted and cheered and clapped as loudly as any other person in the park all through the game. When the game was over, Jackie was happy because his favorite team had won. But what Jackie didn't know was that the boys were to be guests of the Boston Bluebirds. As he was wheeled toward the clubhouse, his face lighted with joy.

THREE FAMOUS ENDMEN of this year's Minstrel Show were "Itchy" Webber, "Doc" Morte, and "Babe" Oliva. They surely did clown it that night.

Inside, the players had set up tables and covered them with all kinds of good things to eat. As the boys ate the food, they were introduced to some of the players. Jackie had his nurse wheel him around the room so that he could ask the players to autograph a foul ball that he had caught.

When he came to Ted Phillips, his nurse told Ted that Jackie had captained his seventh grade team to an undefeated season and to the State Championship.

Jackie said solemnly, "But that was two years ago. I'll never be able to play baseball again."

"You're Jackie Grayson, aren't you?" asked Ted. "I remember you. I remember seeing your name in the sports columns. Why, do you know that I was afraid of you? I thought that the Bluebirds would use you in left field in my place."

"You're just saying that to make me feel good."

"No, Jackie, I'm not. You saw me play today. I didn't get a hit. The rookies did much better than I did."

"But, Ted, this is only a preseason exhibition game. By the time the season officially opens, you'll be knocking the cover off the ball."

"Jackie, this is only the preseason of your life, so to speak. In a little while you'll be well again, and then you, too, will be smashing home runs. When that day comes, and it isn't too far off, drop in to see us and we'll have a contract all ready for you to sign."

JUNIOR DANCE COMMITTEE; C. Mazzarelli, M. Dei Castello, A. Niro, A. McKinley (all seated). McGill, Capuzziello, Harris, Mitchell, Kratzsch.

As Jackie left the clubhouse, his nurse knew that he was filled with courage and determination. She knew that the doctors had solved their problem, and she thought to herself, "He'll get well. He'll get well in no time."

Contribution

O Lord!

To you I come on bended knee;
Please don't turn away.

This little time that's left to me
I want to use to pray.

I've caused You too much pain, I know,
But sinners make amends!
So tell me, God, before I go,
That You and I are friends.

These tears may make my prayer heard,
Yet tears can't wash my soul.
So if You will, just say one word,
And make my body whole.

O Lord!

Just one more thing before I part,
Just this, and I am through:
I love You, God, with all my heart.
Now take me home to You!

The Star I Know

Each night as I look from my window,
I see a star shine in the dark;
And while I watch it all aglow,
It lights in my soul a spark.

A spark that's hidden deep within,
Aided by one I love,
Who, of course, will help me win
My way to my Home above.

"Oh, how can one enlighten me,"
I asked in wondering tone,
"And light the way to make me see
The path through the dark unknown?"

Difficult as the road may be
And waiting to be trod,
This star will always stay with me
With the help of our dear Lord.

AT THE PROM a dandy time was had by all. Just look at the expressions on the faces of those in this shot. Aren't they out of this world? How many do you know?

A Typical American Home

Outlined against an azure sky
And set in a velvet lawn
Stands a typical American home,
The place where I was born.

The vines creep up its aging walls;
Beneath, the flowers bloom;
The hollyhocks grow great and tall
With plenty of earth for room.

And as I stand here looking up,
It seems to me I see
A friendly look upon its face:
I know it's just for me.

A Day In The Life Of A Student Nurse

My name is Sally. Before I came to the big city, I was just an average American girl. My life was simple and uncomplicated. Now it is seldom simple and always complicated.

My day begins at the unholy hour of 5:30. Of course, if I am particularly reluctant at rising from my warm bed at that time, I may postpone the awful moment until 5:50, but this system naturally incurs difficulties. Picture one wild dash down three flights of stairs, my cap askew and my cape floating along behind me; a galloping lope across the courtyard, and a long slip and slide which gets me over the threshold of the dining room just in the nick of time, if I'm lucky. It takes no longer than five minutes to devour my oatmeal and gulp down my coffee. Then I fold my hands on my stomach, sink down into my chair, and spend the next twenty-five minutes in blissful half-sleep.

From breakfast I make my way to the hospital ward where a variety of sleepy babies, noisy youngsters, and cranky old ladies lie in wait for me. I can never quite recall what happens after that. I vaguely remember, however, making eight beds, combing eight heads of hair, cranking down or up, as the occasion demands, five or six beds, and running madly up the corridor with two towel-covered pans balanced precariously in both hands.

And so my morning passes tranquilly and serenely. At 12:00 I proceed downstairs to dinner, when I demolish in short order a meal weighing anywhere from three to four pounds. This usually takes no longer than seven minutes. (Eight minutes if we have spaghetti, for spaghetti is so hard to manage, is it not?) Once more I fold my hands on my stomach, sink down into my chair, and spend the other twenty-two minutes in contented slumber.

From 1:00 until 4:00 my time is my own. So I go back to my room and I sleep. Of course, at times study must be substituted for sleep. I often wonder what a human being needs the most of, study or sleep? Of course, if I don't study, I shall grow up to be an illiterate, and if I do study, I shall grow up to be a nurse. It certainly is a problem!

Promptly at 4:00 I return to my work where eight hungry patients are clamoring to be fed. It all makes one feel like a mother bird.

After supper is over and the visitors have gone home, I tuck the sleepy patients into their warm little beds, turn out the lights, and listen to their soft, quiet breathing. All is peaceful and quiet. Every night I tell myself, "This will last." And every night it never does. I can never quite remember what happens next, but I think I vaguely recall carrying eight glasses of water, straightening out eight rubber sheets, locating eight misplaced hot water bottles and answering three red lights.

But all this is just part of the day's work. Maybe you think I must be tired by now, perhaps you think I'm just plain crazy, or maybe you think I love my work.

Well, I am, I must be, and I do.

"Beehive" Caves Of New England

Not long ago I visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Pearson, on Elm Street, Upton, Massachusetts for the purpose of writing about the "beehive" cave which was on their property. The couple very generously lent me all of the clippings, reports, and pictures they had, thus saving me many hours of research.

A few days later I returned for the purpose of examining the cave. The latter is one of the largest of its kind found in New England. The structure, it has been proven, was built by Irish priests called Culdees.

This amazing piece of masonry is located in a small ravine, and is so concealed that a person may walk over the top of it and never know it is there. The opening is about four feet square. Once inside, a visitor can stand up in a passage about fourteen feet long. The walls of this passage are of rough, fair sized rocks. The ceiling is of larger, flat stones, each weighing several tons. The tunnel averages three feet in width, but in some places it is wider than four feet.

What amazed me most was the chamber about eleven feet high and twelve feet in diameter in which, 1000 years ago, people lived. No tools were used to shape the stones; instead they were tilted above the ground and a fire built under them until they were quite hot. Then water was spilled in the proper places by means of a goat's skin bag with a very small hole in it. If this is done correctly, the stone will split in an even line. A larger stone weighing fifteen tons is in the middle of the ceiling. It is generally believed that such masses of rock were moved into place by means of the inclined plane and roller.

While I was in the cave, I witnessed the exhibition of a rather primitive air-conditioning system. Mr. Pearson was burning papers to supply light, and as he burned them, the place became warm and full of smoke. Soon, however, you did not mind it because the smoke was going out along the ceiling while fresh air was coming in along the floor.

In the middle of the garden are the ruins of two or three "beehives" later to be excavated, at an estimated cost of $200,000 by William B. Goodwin. When the passages connecting them with the main cave have been excavated and rebuilt, they will be again covered with earth. Then the caves will be exactly as they were when the Culdees lived there.

The Upton cave is not the only one of importance in New England. At North Salem in New Hampshire, a colony that covers over twenty acres has been excavated. The "beehive," dolmens, and smaller shelters are situated around what appears to be a center plaza. Here also is found the only sacrificial stone yet unearthed; this stands on six legs of stone and is large enough for a six-foot man to stretch out comfortably in it.

Because of the presence of a perfect drainage system, no water is to be found in the dwellings.

The Culdees who inhabited these caves were really the first Christians in Ireland. Driven out of Ireland by the Norsemen, they moved to Iceland, five hundred miles away. The sea-rovers from the North were persistent; so again the Irish moved, this time to Greenland, two hundred and fifty miles away. Between 300 and 700 A. D. they crossed Darwin Strait and found themselves off the coast of Labrador. From there it was only natural that they should drift down through New England. Two strange and yet unsolved questions remain. Why did they visit only in New England, and why have no skeletal remains or relics been found?

All of these facts, recently unearthed, will eventually change our present history books. Also, it is worth noticing that most of the work was done by amateur archeologists.

In closing, may I say that I enjoyed very much both the collection of these facts and the writing of this article.

NOTICE THE DECORATIONS that were so effective at the Junior Prom of the Class of 1948. Miss DeSalvia certainly did an excellent job!

The Last Hour

I am sitting here in my lonely cell listening to the clock methodically ticking away the final minutes of my life on this earth.

The events of the past few weeks are like a fantastic nightmare, an unholy figment of my imagination. Looking at the cold, steel bars before me, I vaguely comprehend that it is no dream conjured up in the recesses of my tortured mind. No, it is the stark, absolute truth! In less than an hour I shall die for a crime of which I am completely innocent; a crime committed by a man's insane love for a woman.

Dear Lord in Heaven! Why must I die for another man's sin? Why? To answer this question I must turn the pages of my life back eight years, back to the year I was married.

I had just completed my college education and had secured a good position with the Parker Chemical Works. Francis Morito, a close boyhood friend, and I were in love with the same girl, Ann Todd. However she preferred me to Francis, and eventually we were married.

The night we announced our plans of marriage to Francis, he flew into a fit of rag and swore he would destroy me if it took him a lifetime. Naturally I did not take him seriously, believing he would be himself in the morning. On the following day he vanished completely, leaving no trace of his whereabouts.

I never laid eyes on Francis again, until about a month ago when he was employed as Advertising Manager in the Parker Works. Of course, I was overjoyed to see him, and he seemed not at all hostile.

BETWEEN DANCES at the Prom are some of the gay blades of the junior and senior classes with their attractive ladies. Anthony R., the Cosetta brothers, and Bobby Aldrich are quite prominent males here.

On the contrary, his attitude was quite friendly. Oh, if only I had known then that he was scheming to ruin my life, my security.

Nothing unforeseen occurred until exactly twelve days ago. On that fateful Thursday morning I had a bitter argument with Mr. Manley, the president, over a new chemical he wanted to buy. He was a stubborn old fool and would not listen to reason. I guess I called him a few names, storming out of the office in a tantrum.

That evening I received a telephone call from Mr. Manley. At least I thought it was he asking me to come out to his house for an important conference concerning the chemical we had quarreled over.

On arriving at his house, I rang the doorbell, and receiving no response, I walked in.

The house was in complete darkness except for a dim light shining from under his study room door. I turned the knob, opened the door silently, and then stopped dead in my tracks, horrified! Sprawled in front of me was Mr. Manley, his vacant eyes staring at the white ceiling, a pool of blood under his head. It needed only one glance to see that his body was lifeless. There was a gun lying beside his still form, and like the idiot I was, I bent over to pick it up.

As I was examining the gun, I had a sudden premonition of danger. I quickly turned to see the grinning face of Francis Morito! Then a blunt instrument crashed down on my head, and I fell forward into a black pit.

I awoke with a dull throbbing in my head and a ringing in my ears. I shook away the cobwebs that were before my eyes and sat up. Beneath my fingers I felt the cold metal of the gun. Suddenly I realized that the ringing in my ears was the doorbell. I started to look around the room for some means of exit, but there were none except the door from which I had entered.

A cold sweat broke out on my forehead. At that moment the faces of two policemen loomed up in the darkened doorway.

Somehow Morito had contrived to have the police arrive in time to prevent the "murderer" from escaping justice.

The rest is all an unreal blur in my mind,—the arrest, the trial, and the conviction. And all the time Morito's gloating face was before me! Nothing that I said impressed the jury. Evidence was given of my quarrel with Mr. Manley, my finger prints were on the gun, and Morito had established an air-tight alibi for himself.

And so I was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to die in the electric chair. Morito will go scot-free while in a few seconds I am going to die. The chimes of the clock are toll-out the hour.

They are coming for me now!

LEAVING THE PROM after a wonderful evening of dancing are Mike Morganelli, Janice Grillo, Tony Rossacci, Norma Calzone, Santo La Sorsa, and Ann Niro.

Jealous

Lillian Warren's heart sang as she drove into the little parking lot beside the railroad station. Glancing at the large clock above the station door, she noticed that she had just five minutes before Eddie's train came in. Her Eddie, home at last after two years overseas! She could hardly contain herself as she walked lightly over the station platform. As she passed a mirror on a cigarette machine, she glanced briefly at her own image, taking in her carefully waved brown hair and well proportioned features. She was also aware of the perfection of the blue suit that she had bought especially for this occasion. She realized, without conceit, that she had not changed a bit since Eddie had last seen her, and she knew that he would be as proud as ever of her.

At last, after what seemed an eternity of waiting, Lillian saw the train pull up to the platform. A tall goodlooking boy in the uniform of the United States Army stepped off the train, and a few seconds later she was being held tightly in a pair of khaki-clad arms. She could hardly restrain the tears of happiness that threatened to flow from her eyes. The two years that she had waited for this day that Eddie would be home again, had seemed like two thousand, but now at last her fervent prayers had been answered and for thirty whole days she should have Eddie all to herself.

On the way home from the station Eddie talked constantly, and she was content just to sit beside him and to listen. Suddenly he exclaimed, "Say, isn't that Lorraine Norris over there? If it is, she certainly has grown up in two years. She must be about eighteen now. Mind if I give her a lift? She seems to be going in our direction."

Lillian glanced at the girl as Eddie stopped the auto and got out. This was perhaps the first time that Lillian had really looked closely at Lorraine in the two years that Eddie had been away. Yes, Lorraine certainly had changed. She was now a tall, slender, graceful girl with lovely honey-colored tresses. It had seemed only yesterday that this same girl had been a stocky bobby-soxer in skirt and sweater, and now she was a poised, well-dressed young woman.

When Lorraine saw Eddie, her eyes lit up with happiness. Lillian knew that before Eddie left, Lorraine had been very fond of him, but Eddie never had had time for her as he had considered her as just a child. His opinion, however, seemed to have changed since he saw her a few moments ago. Lillian flinched.

"Could it be that I'm jealous?" she wondered to herself. "How foolish of me!" she argued angrily to herself, for she knew that no one could ever take her place in Eddie's heart.

As she entered the house, a tall, good-looking, middle-aged man emerged from the living room, paper in hand. "Why hello, Lillian. What took you so long and where's Eddie?" he asked.

"Eddie is outside talking to Lorraine. He has made a date with her for tomorrow night," she answered.

"Well, don't look so downhearted," he replied. "Surely you didn't expect to have him all to yourself all of the time, did you? My dear, if I didn't know you better, I'd think that you were jealous."

"Why, John, darling," she smilingly retorted as she reached up and kissed him lightly on the cheek. "How silly! Imagine being jealous of our own son!"

Our Hope

I

Alas! Spring was hesitant and late that year;
March passed, and scarce a blade of grass was green.
Came April! We longed for bluer skies; we hoped
That Winter would at last relax his grip.
Too long he'd toyed with Spring, as cat with mouse,
Tempting the poor young sprite with two warm days,
Urging her to change with alchemy
The tender green to bare brown earth.
But No! He blustered down upon her from the North,
Again with frost and ice and bitter gale.

II

At last! A warm rain came, and we were glad;
It welcomed Spring, who had rebirth to give.
But when at eventide to kitchen door we went
To scan the skies for signs of clearing,
We were angry and dismayed. We found instead
Silhouettes of lacy snowflakes floating by!
As we peevishly peered without, we heard,
Piercing and shrill from nearby swamp,
The chorus of a myriad of tiny frogs
Undaunted by bleak Winter's new attack.
Their song gave us new hope. We opined
"If winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

The Storm

Darkness falls over the surface of the land
Urging all living things before it,
Driving and rolling in angry gusts of wind,
Rumbling and roaring until the very roof-tops tremble.
The giant storm enters wildly;
Lightning flashes across the sky
Like a great white crooked stick.
The rain comes sweeping down from the sky
Beating upon the roof-tops below.
Trees cling frantically to the earth
As the wind rocks their majestic boughs.
The storm moves on.
It swings through the city streets,
Hurling restless winds before it.
Now gusts sweep over lonely western plains
And sing their angry songs
In icy blasts in the bleak northern wasteland,
Swinging and sweeping out over the limitless seas,
Rocking and tossing man's mighty fortresses
And in the end, it marches through the sky
Triumphant in an unperturbed glory.

My Little Brook

I wandered by a little brook,
Found flowers in a shady nook.
Upon the water the sun shone bright;
It gave a clear and crystal light.
I heard the whispering breezes fade,
The sunlight turned to soft, cool shade.
The grasses were so very green,
Enfolded in an emerald sheen.
The breeze now turned to a whistling wind,
And the sunlight was in darkness pinned.
Nightfall had come to the little place,
May God bless it with all His grace.
But dawn will come another day,
And all the birds will sing and play.
All the folks are there to see,
And there may Heaven let me be:
I want to see again that look,
The beauty of my little brook.

Sin and Immortality

Darkness engulfing us,
Casting its dismal shadow
Upon all that is worldly.
Life enrapturing us—
Falsely creating a cheap illusion.
Darkness and glitter:
That is our life.
Particles of happiness
Eclipsed by sorrow.
Light, then sincere regret, for just a moment.
Darkness, blissful darkness
Taking us body and soul,
Judging us and presenting us
To our Eternal Life;
To our Eternal Love;
To our Eternal God.

JOSEPHINE AREANO, '47

Another Tale Of Woe

One morning Lil returned from a date;
Her escort had kept her out late.
Said Lil, "It's a sin,
But I just can't get in
'Cause Richard won't open the gate!"
Said her escort, "My, what a bore!"
I shan't take you out any more.
So her boy friend just left;
Poor Lil was bereft,
And she sobbed, "Richard, open that door!"
Now poor little Lil—elle est morte!
But a lesson to me she has taught!
I won't trust a monsieur
And it's all parce que
Richard won't open la porte!

HELEN MORIN, '47

Winter

I love the little snowflakes,
So frosty and so white;
I love to watch them as they whirl
And frolic in their flight.
They come straight down from Heaven
To deck the world below.
It seems to me that every one
Must love the pretty show.

A Few 1947 Limericks

I once knew a fellow named Lear,
Who was searching for gold far and near.
He at last found a stake
But alas, all too late,
For a sign said, "Kilroy was here!"

H. M. '47

There once was a girl named Louise,
Who got into her dress with a squeeze.
But when we asked why,
She said with a sigh,
"The buttons will burst if I sneeze."

N. P. '47

I'm quite fond of the banana royal;
My clothes though I often soil.
My father is mad,
My mother is sad,
But still to the royal I'm loyal.

N. R. '47

There once was a teacher named Ryan
Who taught English until we were dyin'.
Each week she would say,
"Now, that's not the way."
And we'd leave Dr. Ryan a-cryin'.

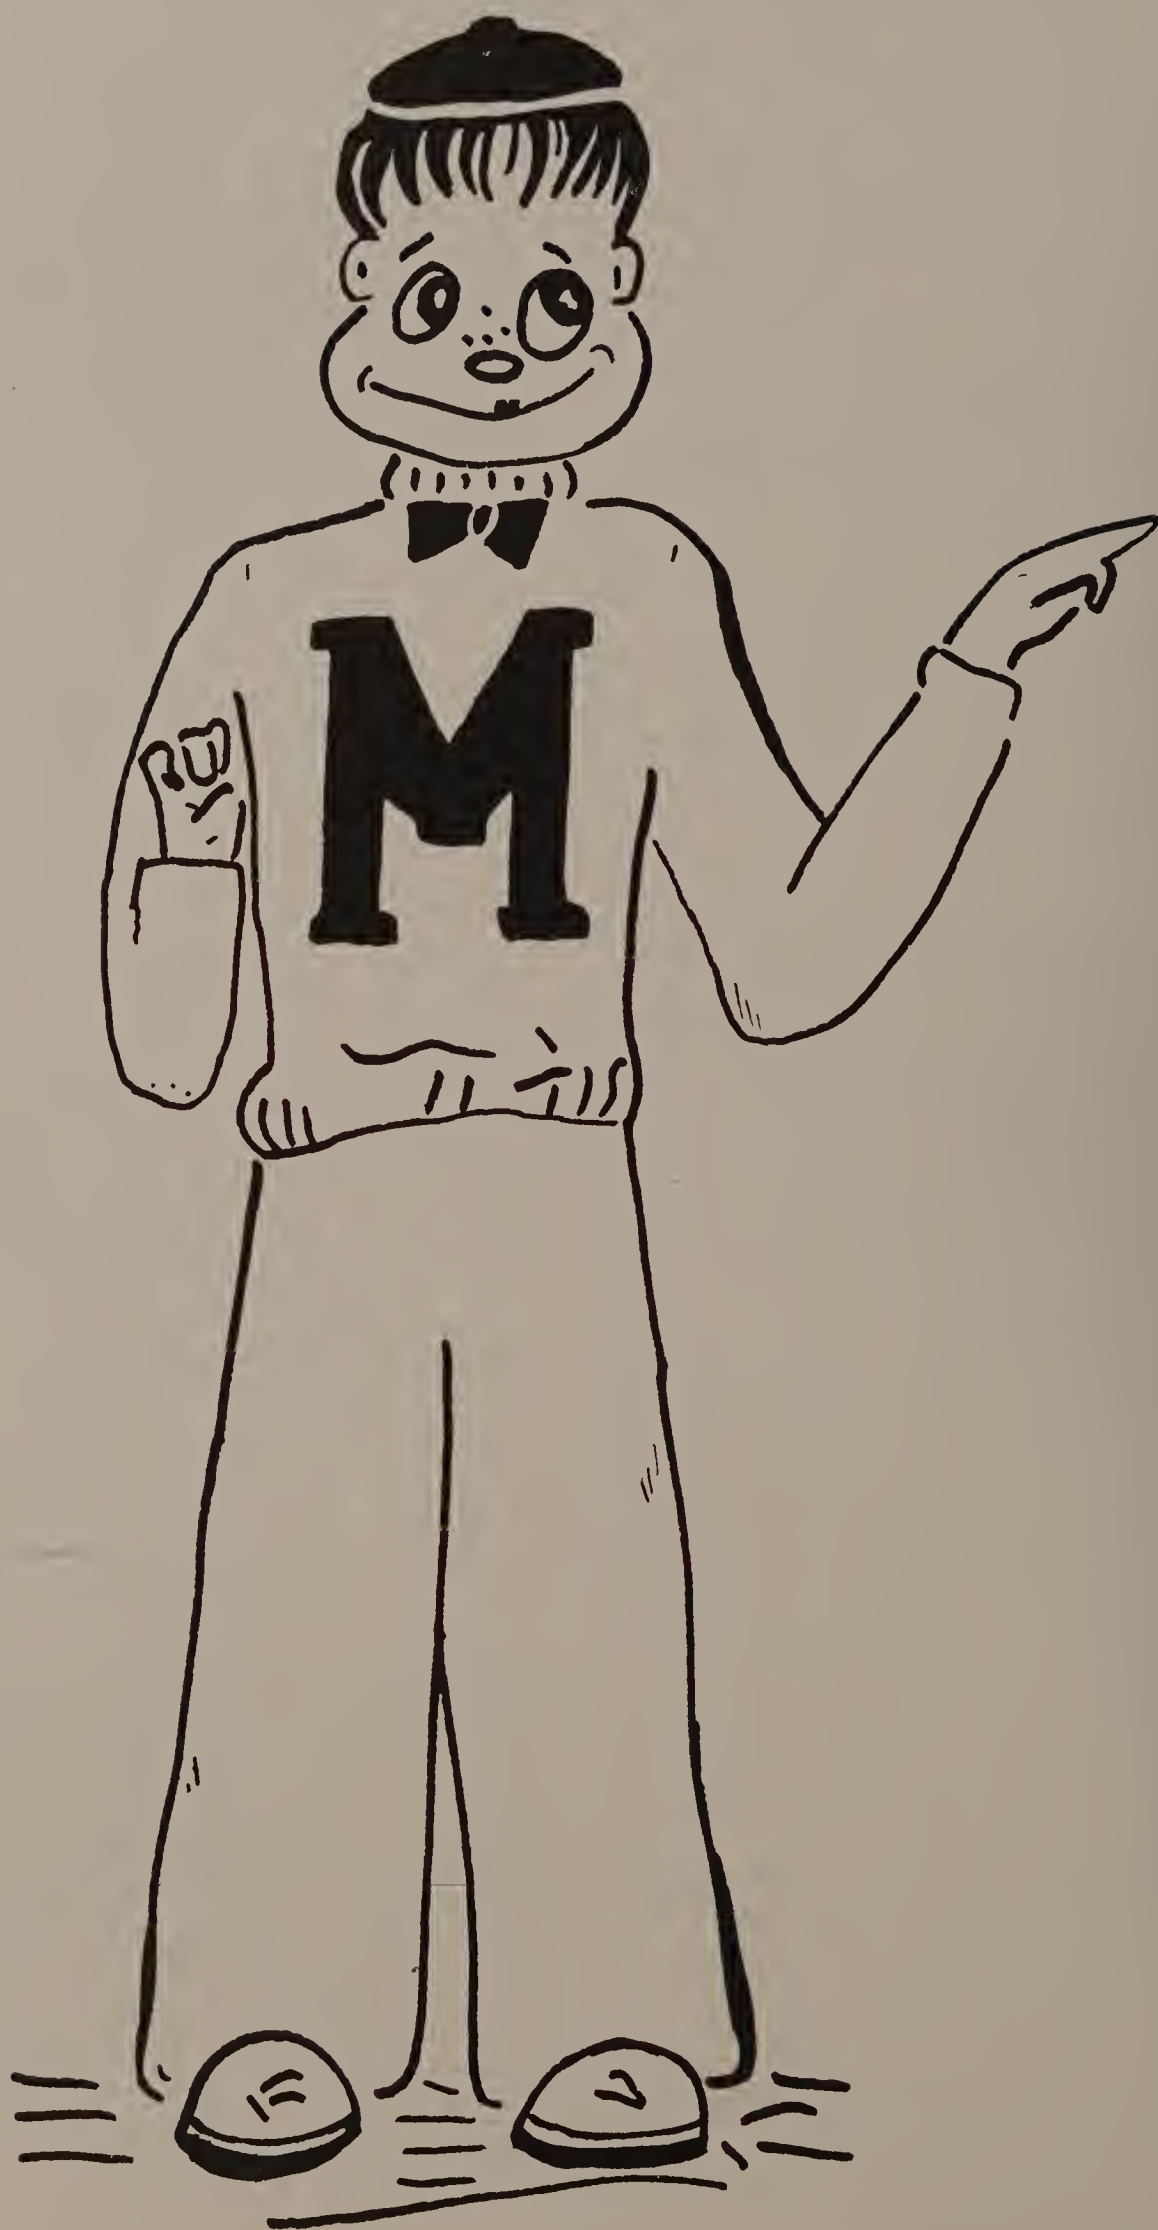

J. F. '47

There was a young lady named Ford,
Who was trying to sing The Lost Chord.
She struck a high note,
Then picked up her coat,
And her audience is thanking the Lord.

T. J. '47

There once was a crooner named Bing,
Who could make all girls swoon when he'd sing.
But along came their Frankie,
Who was tall, lean, and lanky;
Now Bing's at the end of a string.

Editor's Letter

The OAK, LILY, and IVY Committee has published this year, for the Class of 1947, what we consider to be the most outstanding edition of all previous Milford High School yearbooks. Each member of the staff, spurred on by the hope of achieving this recognition, cheerfully accepted the arduous, and sometimes tedious assignments given. He performed them in a manner that is to be highly commended. Because of this excellent spirit of team-work, the 1947 OAK, LILY, and IVY is as good as it is.

Even the most perfectly fitted of meshed gears, however, cannot accomplish what is expected of them without the proper lubrication. Such has been our experience. The yearbook committee has, in reality, functioned as smoothly as an assembly line of machinery. Our lubricant has been co-operation, the best that could be obtained. The expert supervision and encouragement of our principal faculty adviser, Mr. Tosches; the patience, suggestions, and leadership of our faculty Business manager, Mr. Higgiston, and of our treasurer, Miss Pyne, in handling our financial matters; the literary assistance of Dr. Ryan and the Misses Callahan and O'Connell; the kindness and most beneficial guidance of Mr. Moran in taking time from his many duties to advise us; the helpfulness of Miss Dorcas Whipple and of Claire Stone, whose capable handling of our art work enabled us to carry our Oli and Olette theme throughout the book; and the originality of Thelma Johnson in creating our cover design — all deserve a special word of thanks. We cheerfully give it.

Also especially deserving of our gratitude are: our loyal alumni for their generous support; those members of the OAK, LILY, and IVY Committee who so conscientiously and successfully strove to raise their quota of $100; our many sponsors and advertisers, whose generosity made the publication of our yearbook possible; the Misses Louise Fitzgerald and Mary Del Vecchio, who did much more than their share in typing out all written work for this book; Miss Rita Aldrich and Guy D'Amelio, our Photo Editor and Circulation Manager respectively, for their splendid spirit of co-operation; Miss Josephine Areano for her Season Theme; Miss Helen Morin for her Oli and Olette idea, and in short, all those members of the yearbook committee who shouldered the greatest responsibilities and carried them out so faithfully.

We are deeply grateful to Mr. Conrad F. Lindblad of the Norton Camera Club for his kindness in allowing us to use his seasonal shots which appear on pages 3, 55, and 83, and to Mr. Malcolm Pearson of the Whitin Machine Works for other seasonal shots pictured on pages 3, 9, 55, and 83 and, of course, for the excellent aerial view of our school.

We give our usual orchid to the printing and engraving department at the Wellesley Press for the excellent help it has given to us and for the patience and courtesy its workers extended to us on many occasions. We also wish to thank here the Warren Yearbook Co. Exhibit. We have used many of its excellent suggestions and ideas.

In short, thank you all for your help to us.

Cordially yours,

Anthony Villani

Before you make any decisions as to what you are going to do after graduation, why not investigate the job opportunities which the Telephone Company offers you?

Good pay is among the many advantages you gain by working for the Telephone Company. You earn while you learn; the pay for beginners is good and you can earn increases beginning in a few months.

Then, too, you will be working at an interesting job with congenial people in pleasant surroundings. Your job can be the first step in a real career in public service.
